

From: RobinM <melodyofharpists@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, December 29, 2023 9:45 AM
To: Michael Behrendt <mbehrendt@ci.durham.nh.us>
Subject: Re: NHDHR Historical Highway Marker program | other examples

Thanks, Michael. The list will be short, from what I have seen by scanning the entire list. (Some signs mark very odd events, e.g., a putative UFO sighting.)

BTW, I have briefly searched for raid/massacre historic signs in other states. See attached example for the Fox Indian Massacre from Grosse Point, Michigan, posted at an interesting blog called Detroit Urbanism.

Also, some non-NH markers are two-sided. If we were allowed that option, it would allow for more detail and/or nuanced context if that's what folks want.

Thanks as well for your patient listening.

-- Robin

* * *

On Dec 29, 2023, at 9:38 AM, Michael Behrendt <mbehrendt@ci.durham.nh.us> wrote:

Hi Robin,
Will do. A good suggestion.

Michael Behrendt

Durham Town Planner
8 Newmarket Road
Durham, NH 03824
(603) 868-8064

From: RobinM <melodyofharpists@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, December 28, 2023 6:44 PM
To: Michael Behrendt <mbehrendt@ci.durham.nh.us>
Subject: NHDHR Historical Highway Marker program | other examples

Greetings, Michael --

Would you please ask Amy Dixon to make available to Durham's Heritage Commission (and the public a list of the NH towns with markers that mark the sites of historical Indian raids or massacres, along with the text of those markers?

It would seem to me that this might be helpful in the ongoing discussion about what, where, and how to mark the 1694 attacks on the Oyster River Plantation.

Thank you.

Regards,

-- Robin

Robin Mower

* * *