Todd,

I have attached a flyer inviting people to join Colonial Durham on September 12 from 10am to 12pm. Our focus will be the color palette of the buildings. We'll show some options and invite comments from the people attending the Zoom call.

Text and link are below, if you'd like to include it in your Friday newsletter:

Interested in discussing building colors for the proposed redevelopment at Mill Plaza? Please join Colonial Durham and the planners, urban designers, and architects from Harriman to discuss building colors. We have had lots of feedback on the options to date and we would like to hear more! Join us on Saturday, September 12 from 10am-12pm by registering at this link:

After registering, you will receive a confirmation email containing information about joining the meeting.

Please feel free to distribute this to members of the Planning Board, the Town Council, and any other Town officials you think would be interested. We will also be sending the invitation to those who joined us at the last meeting.

Please let me know if you have any questions – and have a wonderful Labor Day weekend!

Best,

Emily
