Subject: Workforce housing: personal income definition

Greetings, Michael --

I continue to be concerned that personal income is an inadequate term for use in the workforce housing zoning amendment.

Either:

- (1) the concept should be made explicit through the substitution of a different term, or
- (2) it should be included in the ordinance's definitions.

In either event, the term should reflect the goal or intent of the amendment, i.e., for what economic demographic do we intend to provide housing.

Please see the below federal Congressional resource, below.

I understand that a public hearing for the workforce housing amendment has not yet opened, but please do forward this email to the Planning Board and Housing Task Force.

Thank you.

Regards,
